"Turn the wrapping paper the other side out," said a lady in a dry goods store the other morning as a clerk was wrapping up her purchase in a printed paper. "I don't want to be a walking advertisement for your store. I read the papers as I think intelligent people ought to do and I think it is in the place to advertise your business. Instead of asking your customers to carry your sign around with each purchase of goods, go and tell the people through the paper what you have to sell and how you sell it."

The improvement boards charged with the work of paving the city's streets, six blocks in all, have held meetings in the last twenty-four hours and arranged all details possible in advance of the city council's action. When that body has confirmed their action by passage of the ordinance and has made the levy, etc., the actual work will begin. This matter will be taken up at a special meeting to be held very soon. It is hoped the new brick plant will be able to supply the brick for this purpose—a very good sized opening order.
